Georgetown, Ky., Dec. 29.—A Christmas gift, unsurpassed by any in the sixty-seven years of his life, was given to Prof. Robert L. Garrison when his child wife presented him with a little daughter, his first child. For over thirty-five years he was principal of the Georgetown public schools, and is now holding a similar position in the Stamping Ground school. WEST VIRGINIA NEIGHBORS.

NEWS FROM COUNTIES JUST ACROSS THE RIVER IN WEST VIRGINIA.

The final census figures on West Virginia cities gives Huntington the second place of honor, with Charleston a poor third, Parkersburg comes fourth with the smallest growth of any of the larger municipalities. Wheeling retains the first place.

In the state of West Virginia there are eighty-five school districts, situated in more than thirty different counties, which are not able to run their free schools without aid from the supplementary fund, and applications have already been made to the department of schools asking for further aid from those districts so that the present terms of school may be continued to the minimum limit with salaries for the teachers fixed at the minimum amount.

The Legislature should remember that Wayne county has not been recognized as it should be. While some of the counties have backsidings and got over into the enemy's country, Wayne stood as solid as adamant, and our wants should be listened to. Now we want Judge Marcum for Speaker of the House mighty bad. He is well qualified in every respect and it is an honor that we think is due to the county and to the Judge as well.

Weston, W. Va., Dec. 28.—Following last night's rescue from the mob of William Furby, the negro assailant of Flora Anglin, this place has resumed its normal quietness, although there is a persistent demand on the part of the people that swift justice be meted out to the negro. This was promised the mob last night by Prosecuting Attorney Swint and Sheriff Alfred, in an attempt to quiet the mob.

Both these officials went to Clarksburg today to arrange for an immediate special grand jury to hear the case. J. W. Townsend was arrested tonight for making inflammatory speeches on the streets.

The alarm of fire was sounded last Saturday night about 7:15 when upon investigation the house of J. B. Goff on Harvey-st. was found to be on fire. From reports the fire seemed to have started in the front room from either a defective flue or the fire place the exact cause not being known, the fire when discovered had gained considerable headway and was rapidly destroying the house, considerable of the household goods were saved but the house is a complete loss, the adjoining houses of T. J. Fletcher and F. P. Jennings were slightly damaged. Chief W. O. Porter with the assistance of several citizens worked hard to save the adjoining property, and after about an hour flame. Insurance was carried on all the property, which is sufficient to cover the loss.—Enterprise.

Saturday night about eight o'clock the Belmont Hotel at Matewan was found to be on fire, having started in one of the rooms on the second floor.

When the fire was discovered a large number of guests were in the building, all of which managed to get safely out, except one man, whose name could not be learned who was in his room on the fourth floor. The fire spread very rapidly and had gained considerable headway before the volunteer fire department made its appearance. The hotel was a four story building, and while the fire department worked hard they were not successful in extinguishing the flames before the whole building with its contents was completely consumed.

The unfortunate man who was on the fourth floor of the building and apparently scared so that he did not heed the warning of the standing out in the street, to wait until he could be rescued, but jumped from window landing out in the street on his feet, injuring himself internally, from which he died about eleven o'clock, he was employed as a bridge builder on the bridge near the Hatfield tunnel. The building was partially covered by insurance.—Williamson Enterprise.

Thomas Wayne, the colored man convicted of the murder of Mrs. John Alliff at Quinimont last September, was hanged at the state penitentiary last Friday evening at five o'clock. He made no confession of his guilt. Just before mounting the scaffold he knelt and prayed as follows: "Oh, God, I am about to meet my death and in my last minutes I want to ask you to forgive my sins. Give my mother strength and watch over her; forgive my enemies and friends."

Then turning to the colored choir boys, Wayne said: "Boys, get religion. It is your only salvation." Then nodding his head to the guards and Rev. Riker, he mounted the steps to the scaffold and with a firm stride, walked on the platform on which was standing Captain of the Guards, Boyd, and his executors, Guards Whitworth, Harris and Sheets. Captain Boyd then adjusted the black cap and for the first time in the history of executions at Moundsville the condemned man did not waver and stood very still. Nodding his head as signal, Captain Boyd raised his right hand and the three electric buttons were pressed by Guards Whitworth, Harris and Sheets. With a report like the firing of a canon, the trap part ed and the body shot through space.

Death was almost instant and with the exception of the muscles relaxing, the negro showed no sign of life after the trap was sprung. Seven and three quarter minutes after the drop, Dr. Pack, the prison physician, pronounced the negro dead, his neck having been broken in two places.

"I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart," wrote C. B. Radcliff, of Lewisburg, W. Va., "for the wonderful double benefit I got from Electric Bitters, in curing me of both a severe case of stomach trouble and of rheumatism, from which I had been an almost helpless sufferer for ten years. It suited my case as though made just for me. For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice and to rid the system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism, Electric Bit has no equal. Try them. Every bottle is guaranteed to satisfy. Only 50c at A. M. Hughes."

MR. VANSANT WILL NOT RUN.

A report has been in circulation for several weeks to the effect that Hon. R. H. Vansant, of Ashland, might possibly be persuaded to make the race for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant-Governor of Kentucky. Friends from various sections took the cue and urged Mr. Vansant to enter the race.

A friend at this place wrote him about the matter and his reply has been placed in our hands by that friend. The letter states in the most positive terms that he is not a candidate for that or any other position and does not intend to become such. The Big Sandy News is authorized to give out this information to the people of Kentucky.

The News has no pleasure in making this announcement, for it would most cheerfully support Mr. Vansant. He is capable of filling any position with credit to himself and his party. In intellect, character, and executive ability, he measures up to the high standard needed for efficient service in important places. Unfortunately, there are not enough men of this type who will consent to run for office.

If not this year we hope that at some future time Mr. Vansant may see his way clear to heed the call of the people to serve in some high position.

THE LANGLEY PENSION BILL.

The distinguished statesman who represents the Tenth Kentucky district in Congress prophesies the early enactment of his bill to add $40,000,000 annually to the pensions now being paid out by a grateful Government. If his prophecy is confirmed, no individual and the descendant of no individual, so geographically fortunate as to live north of Mason and Dixon's line in the period between 1861 and 1865, need suffer want.

Under the bill, any Federal soldier who served ninety days, whether he saw active service or not, is entitled to a pension ranging from $15 to $36 a month, provided he has reached the age of sixty-two. Should he have passed that age he is to be entitled to back pay. The total amount of the pension payment for last year was $162,000,000. The measure which Mr. Langley is so hopeful of seeing passed would bring the total up to $202,000,000.—Exchange.

The grand jury of Adams county, Ohio, returned seventy-three more indictments yesterday for the selling of votes. This makes the total number of indictments 1,071. A young man confessed he sold his vote to his father.

The vote in Adams county, Ohio, will be considerably lighter next year.

Archie Hoxsey and John Moisant, famous aviators, met sudden death on Saturday last while making flight in the air. Hoxsey was killed near Los Angeles, Cal., and Moisant near New Orleans. Since September 1908 thirty-four persons have been killed in making similar flights.

The President has withdrawn the name of J. N. Sharp who has been acting as District Attorney in the Covington district. There were charges against him. It is said Congressman Bennett, who was lame or lamed in the last election by one W. J. Fields, aided and abetted by certain voters with democratic proclivities, may get the job. The republicans are hastening to provide pools for their lame ducks to paddle in until 1912, when the democrats will shoot the stuffin' out of the whole flock.—Cynthiana Democrat.

SHAME ON YOU, JIM ALLEN!

Dr. Wiley says in a million years from now people will freeze at the equator. Many a married man feels like he is frozen at the equator now when his wife sticks her cold feet in the small of his back.—Cynthiana Democrat.

Being a bachelor, Jim, how do you know?

Notice to Trustees and Teachers.

There will be a meeting of the County Board of Education in my office, Friday, Jan. 13, 1911. Those having claims against this Board payable out of the 1910 School Fund should have their orders properly filled out and before the Board at this meeting as this will be the last chance to have them allowed.

I also desire to call attention to those who are interested in having changes made in boundaries or new districts created or old districts annulled. You must make your application at this meeting.

I wish to further call the attention of the teachers and trustees to the provisions of the School Law relating to teachers' terms, reports and the disposition of the Teachers' and Trustees' Record Books. The Term Reports must be in my hands, properly filled out in every particular, within ten days after the closing of the school, and as the law is not very explicit in regard to the record Books, I would suggest that they be left with the Sub. Dist. Trustee and it is his duty to preserve them and all other school records in his hands, and turn them over to his successor in office.

NEEDFUL KNOWLEDGE.

Louisa People Should Learn to Detect the Approach of Kidney Disease.

The symptoms of kidney trouble are so unmistakable that they leave no ground for doubt. Sick kidneys excrete a thick, cloudy, offensive urine, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding. The back aches constantly, headaches and dizzy spells may occur and the victim is often weighed down by a feeling of languor and fatigue. Neglect these warnings and there is danger of dropsy, Bright's disease, or diabetes. A ny one of these symptoms is warning enough to begin treating the kidneys at once. Delay often proves fatal.

You can use no better remedy than Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's Louisa proof:

William G. Shannon, Maple St., Louisa, Ky., says: "It gives me the greatest pleasure to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. My kidneys annoyed me and a heavy cold which settled on these organs caused intense pains across the small of my back. The kidney secretions passed irregularly and were scanty and filled with sediment. Lieraning of Doan's Kidney Pills, I used them and the contents of two boxes relieved me."

See the maiden with the jaws—
Tireless jaws—
How we're hypnotized in watching
how she chaws—
Now they're grinding, grinding, grinding,
In full view of all the car,
(Would that they were stuck with tar!)
In a spell she is us binding,
And OUR jaws we now are finding,
Keeping time, time, time,
In a sort of gum-drop rhyme,
To the everlasting motion of those jaws, jaws, jaws, jaws,—
The recurrent rising, falling of those jaws—
And we're sighing, sighing, sighing,
With a longing never-dying.

HOME CIRCLE COLUMN.

COLUMN DEDICATED TO TIRED
MOTHERS AS THEY JOIN THE HOME CIRCLE.

The real business of life is the making of a happy home. When you come to sift the whole chaff of existence, everything goes to the wind but the happiness we have had at home.

All about us are beautiful homes which are mere pauper houses, so far as happiness is concerned, because of some one member of the family who is a petty tyrant, a nagger, a peace destroyer.

In hours of exuberance and exultation or joyous merriment; in reflective moments when the soul is swept with memories, pleasing or plaintive, in the silence of religious meditations; or is our little recesses from the homely duties and commonplace labors of the day or week they befriend us with their delightful solace, these thoughts of home and a happy family circle.

There are six secular nights in each week. Out of the six some men spend one at home and five at lodge, while others spend five at home and one at lodge. In which class shall we register your name?

We are coming to understand that all the prayers and baptisms and communions which the churches can bestow upon us will not make us Christians, so long as we think mean, uncharitable thoughts of one another and permit our minds to be filled with malice, envy, jealousy, gloom and despondency.

Work is a moral and physical up-lifter it is a panacea for sorrow; idleness brings moral decay and furnishes an incentive to crime. The avalanche of crime that is sweeping over our beautiful land is largely due to the fact that too many would rather steal than work. The life of duty, not the life of mere ease or mere pleasure, is the end of life which makes the great men and women. The best prize that life offers is the chance to work at work worth doing.

A word of encouragement at the right time is of more real worth than an ounce of gold. It is more nourishing to the soul than meat and drink to the hungry. It is better stimulant than the richest wine, and the strongest lever to lift from the ruts of despondency. Many a poor overworked wife is pining for a word of sympathy from her husband. Just one word, one look, to show that the toil of weary hours are appreciated, and the light reflected would more than recompense the giver.

We have often wondered why mother's memory and hands must serve for a dozen persons. Would it not be better for all concerned if mother's kindness contained more of self-assertion and less of self-sacrifice? Would not, at times, papa feel less disturbed, nay, wrathfully, if he were careful to keep his own papers in order, and perform the twenty other trivial things he has time to do in leisure moments, but expects of some one else? Would it not be better for sister to teach baby—who is old enough—to button his own shoes, than to do it for him each morning as a duty?

Don't wake your boys and girls up mornings with "Hurry up and get up and come on and feed the horses and milk the cows, for we've got a lot of work to do, and it's getting late, so hurry up, or we'll never get through." Is that very pleasant to hear the first thing in the morning? Don't hurry so much, but take time to live and to see a pretty flower or listen to the happy notes of a little bird; enjoy all these beauties of nature as you go along through life. Are you surprised that your boys and girls begin to show dissatisfaction with their homes and long for city life, when at home it is too much hurry, hurry all the time—hurry and do your work? Yes it grows monotonous and they see that each day brings them no nearer the goal than the day before, so they lose interest and grow to hate those daily duties that are all hurry and work.

If the motto "keep sweet" was lived up to in the new year would not our little world of home be the better for it? Even if its influence reached no further would it not be worth the while? To "keep sweet" one must possess a happy unconsciousness of self and enthusiasm about the little things that fill the hours of every day and an absence of malice and envy. One must have a bright outlook on life and a courageous heart. Such an outlook and such a heart are invaluable to the housewife. They cheer herself and those under her influence. "The hand that moves the world" surely should pulse with high courage that comes from a brave, true heart.

This column is published weekly in the hope that it may awaken on the part of the husband and child a deeper appreciation of her who is the central figure of home; that it may strengthen the family bonds, making them more beautiful and tender; that it may encourage charity and breathe hope for the future, where language is music and love is law. We trust this department may to the young brighten and deepen the pleasures and memories of home, while to the advanced in years something may be said that will bring to view the reflected radiance of a golden dawning. We should be pleased to occasionally hear from our readers who appreciate this department. It does no harm to drop a word even in the pathway of an editor whose road seems ever to lead among the thorns.

How much happier we would all be if we would attempt to build instead of tearing down; how much sweeter our lives would be, if we would encourage, by kind words, those of our fellow-men and fellow-women who have fallen by the way-side; extend a helping hand, whisper words of encouragement in their ear and oh! how much brighter our lives and theirs would be. Give no heed to the Tatler and Gossipper, turn a deaf ear, and tell them that you are otherwise engaged, when you find them inclined to talk and very soon the tattlers will find their profession gone.

ABILITY AND OPPORTUNITY MIS- USED

I Kings 12:25-23—January 8
"They shall not make unto thee any graven image"—Exodus 20:4.

ODAY'S Study brings to our attention a man of large natural ability and of quite unusual opportunity. It shows us his disastrous error, which resulted from his endeavor to be worldly wise and to neglect his God and his religion. It furnishes an illustration which can be applied, not only to every political and every commercial enterprise, but also to the life hopes of each individual.

Jeroboam as a young man attracted the attention of King Solomon, who perceived that he possessed great executive talent and that he was a natural master and director of men. King Solomon put Jeroboam at the head of one of his corps of drafted workmen who were engaged after the manner of that time in building palaces and fortresses for the king without pay other than the produce of food and clothing. These labor armies were obliged to work for a number of months and then were replaced by others similarly conscripted.

Jeroboam became the leader of a party of discontents, and an incipient rebellion was the result. This was quickly suppressed by King Solomon and thereupon Jeroboam fled to Egypt, from whence he returned at the death of Solomon and became the leader and spokesman of the ten tribes when they demanded of Rehoboam the reform of the government's policy.

Jeroboam's First Mistake

It should be remarked that one of God's prophets had specially foretold to Jeroboam that he was to be the king of the ten tribes. It was doubtless this that led him to head the insurrection. He should have followed the example of King David, who was anointed King of Israel several years before the death of King Saul. Young David was content to wait God's time in bringing him to the throne. The fact that God had indicated that this would be so did not indicate that the time had come, hence David waited on the Lord and meanwhile learned valuable lessons of self-control and trust in Divine Providence.

Not so Jeroboam, who was evidently a very different type of man, no doubt possessed of more confidence in himself than of trust in God, possessed of more impatience to be a king than of loyalty and patriotic zeal to serve God and his people. This first mistake should be noted by all. "Wait ye upon me, saith the Lord"; the man who ignores God is not wise; the man who opposes God is a fool.

Jeroboam's Second Mistake

When the ten tribes revolted against King Rehoboam, Solomon's son, they promptly accepted Jeroboam, one of Solomon's servants, as their king in harmony with the Prophet's declaration of years before. Finally the boy of humble birth had reached a high station of influence and was a man of great influence for his God and his people. Whoever occupies a position of prominence—political, social, literary—should recognize that thereby he has come under special responsibility and obligations toward all with whom he has to do.

But Jeroboam, king of the ten tribes commonly taken—the selfish course. He looked not to the Lord to serve him, nor to the people, to serve their best interests. He looked selfishly to his own interests. He reasoned thus: If I would establish my family in the kingdom of these ten tribes, I must separate them effectually from the influence of the kingdom of Judah. And since in God's Providence, the Temple is in the land of Judah, and all the religious rites and interest of the people center there, I must as unobtrusively as possible turn the attention of the nation I rule away from sympathy with their fellows of the kingdom of Judah, and away from the regulations which God has established there.

Every worldly politician would declare Jeroboam a master spirit as a ruler, as a politician. He was worldly wise, God through the Prophet had assured him, "if thou wilt hearken to all that I will command thee, and wilt walk in my ways, and do right in my sight to keep my statutes and my commandments, as I have commanded thee, then thy kingdom will be prolonged."—I Kings 11:38.

God explained that the reason for giving Jeroboam rulership of the ten tribes was that Solomon's course of dealing with the nations round about was gradually breaking down the religion and leading the people toward idolatry. Jeroboam should have had all this in mind, and should have applied his heart with special fervor to the banishment of idolatry.

Instead, however, for policy's sake, he led the nation, of which he was king, directly into idolatry. He did not come out plainly and say to them, "I wish to separate you from God and the religious institutions of your nation." Instead, he led the nation away from Jerusalem, its Temple, its religion, its its worship. Under the pretext that it was too far for the people to go to Jerusalem, he erected a golden bull near the northern extremity of his kingdom, and another near the southern line, and the people went from one to the other.

The Thing Was of the Lord

Lest we should suppose that the affairs of Israel's Kingdom, under Divine supervision, were neglected and allowed to go astray, we are particularly informed that "the thing was of the Lord." From this standpoint of faith and from no other the history of Israel should be studied. God had chosen to give Israel the Law Covenant for the very purpose of developing in them as a nation, religious faithfulness. Their lessening of the past had come to this end, and now the time had come to do a sifting, a separating work.

J. W. Rose's barn was the scene of a hard fought and bloody battle between Mr. Rose and a rat some smaller than an elephant. After the atmosphere was clear of dust and cuss words Mr. Rose was found to be twice wounded by the insertion of the rat's incisors in a finger and knuckle. Mr. Rose, observing the effective use of his adversary's teeth, used the same weapon and the death struggle ended in his ratship's death.—Elliott County Democrat.

Mrs. Jane Quillen, one of the pioneer residents of the Big Sandy valley, who has been in failing health for a long time, passed away at 10:30 o'clock last night at the home of her son, Roll Quillen, corner of Greenup avenue and 20th street, at a ripe old age.

The deceased was born in Scott county, Va., in September, 1812, and was thus past 95 years old—almost reaching the century mark and the second oldest person in Ashland. She with her husband, Plaque Quillen came to Kentucky some 50 or 60 years ago, and had resided all these years at Savage Branch, on Big Sandy river, in the upper end of Boyd county.—Ashland Independent.

Williamson was visited by a bad fire Christmas eve night. The house of J. B. Goff, Harvey street, was entirely destroyed and the contents badly damaged. The adjoining residences of T. J. Fletcher and F. P. Johnson were slightly damaged.

On the same night the Belmont hotel at Matewan was, with its contents, entirely destroyed by fire. The building, a four-story frame, was filled with guess, all of whom with the exception of one man, succeeded in escaping uninjured. He was on the fourth floor, and without waiting to be rescued he jumped to the street, receiving injuries from which he died during the day. His name was not known, but it is believed that he was a member of the N. & W. bridge force. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 2.—A man and a boy are dead, and the mother of the boy is probably fatally injured as the result of an explosion of a can of nitro-glycerine at the Winstead home, about a mile from Irvine, Estill county.

The dead: Elbert Winstead, aged fifteen. Samuel Spivey, aged thirty-five.

Probably fatally injured: Mrs. Joseph Winstead, mother of the dead boy.

Both of the Winstead boys' feet were blown off and both of Spivey's eyes were blown out. Mrs. Winstead was so badly shocked by the explosion that she may not recover, although she has a chance for life. The house was badly wrecked by the explosion, and caught fire from the burning debris and was destroyed.

The neighbors who arrived on the scene soon after the explosion were barely able to remove the dead men and injured woman in time to escape cremation.

The Winstead boy was the innocent cause of the explosion. While hunting Saturday he found an old can in the woods, and, needing a can of about that size at home, he took it there with him. Not thinking to examine it to see if there was anything inside it, he placed it near the fire. It became heated in a short time and without warning let go. It has been found that the can contained nitro-glycerine and had been left in the woods by men who had been "shooting" oil wells with it.

Our generous hearted merchant, Isaac Gillem, put $12.50 worth of presents on the tree for his neighbors and little children, besides what he gave to his own family.

Beautiful Spanish Dancer Gives Praise to Pe-ru-na.

NERVOUS prostration is usually the result of a vocation which requires continual strain on the nervous system.

In such cases it would be wise if a change of vocation could be made.

But this is not always possible and a good tonic becomes a necessity.

Peruna is a tonic that invigorates without producing a drug habit.

Peruna is not a beverage nor a bitter, but an honest, straightforward tonic that increases the appetite and encourages digestion.

There is a great demand for tonic during the depressing heat of summer, and especially in countries where hot weather is very prevalent.

Such a demand is exactly met by Peruna.

Miss Pilar Monterde Praised Peruna as a Tonic.

A letter sent to the Peruna Drug Mfg. Co., from the popular Spanish dancer, Miss Pilar Monterde, is as follows:

Teatro Principal, City of Mexico, Nov. 3, 1905.

The Peruna Drug Mfg. Co., Columbus, Ohio, U. S. A.
Gentlemen: Having used your justly celebrated remedy, "La Peruna," for some time, I have the pleasure of informing you that I consider it the best tonic I have ever used.

It is a wonderful fortifier of the nerves after exhaustion and it increases the vitality of the whole body, and in my own case has produced the most complete and permanent restoration. It is also pleasant to the taste.

I do not hesitate, therefore, to recommend this remedy to all women as the best and most pleasant tonic that they can possibly take.

Yours very truly,

(Miss) P. Monterde.

FEED THE BIRDS.

This sort of weather makes it difficult for quail and other birds to find food. An old brush heap or fodder shock, will afford sufficient shelter, and if you will throw a few hands full of wheat or other small grain, in their roosting place, it will save them from starvation.
